🕒 11:00am - 12:00pm, Mar 23

📍 Rumba - 7th Floor

This workshop explores the misunderstanding, dismay and therapeutic rupture that can occur when a patient splits in relation to the therapist and the therapist fails to grasp the meaning of what is occurring. A clinical case is examined through the lens of transference and countertransference to track the sequence of events through which the misunderstanding occurred, leading to the possibility of a deeper self-understanding for both patient and therapist. Deeper understanding also enhances the prospect of avoiding rupture of the therapeutic relationship to the patient's healing and growth may continue to unfold. Heinrich Racker's notions of concordant and complementary countertransference are utilized to understand with greater depth and precision what is going on in the therapeutic relationship to elicit the patient's transference and splitting as well as the therapist's countertransference.

🕒 1:30pm - 4:30pm, Mar 23

📍 Fiesta - 1st Floor

Ken Waddell, Chair of the CPSP Accreditation Oversight Committee (AOC), Brian Childs, Board Member with the Commission for the Accreditation of Pastoral and Psychotherapy Training (CAPPT) and Charles Hicks, CPSP Administrator and Legal Counsel, will be offering a three hour workshop on the process for training program accreditation and also offer training certification for persons wanting to participate in site visits of programs for accreditation overseen by CAPPT. It is important that persons currently providing CPE/T training or those anticipating creating training programs attend this workshop.

The first part of the workshop will outline the accreditation process and offer strategies and practices to facilitate a positive accreditation experience.

The second part of the workshop will provide the requisite training of those people who want to participate in site visits of training programs up for review by CAPPT. CAPPT needs site reviewers from around the country so we have hopes that we will have a good turnout from across all regions of our CPSP community.

In order to participate and receive certification of this training the candidate must be a Diplomate in Supervision and/or a Diplomate in Psychotherapy. It is suggested that participants in both parts of the workshop first become familiar with the CPSP Accreditation Manual AND the CAPPT Certification Manual both of which can be found on the CPSP.org site under the Accreditation tab (which also has link for the CAPPT website.)

CPSP must ever seek the truth about the quality of its life as a community. Since 2006, the “Ad HocGadfly Committee” has been formed anew each year with three “designated gadflies” picked at random from those who have volunteered to serve – to critique the Plenary as constructively as possible.

The College of Pastoral Supervision & Psychotherapy aspires to be “a supportive and challenging community,” “willing to speak the truth” with “a compassionate heart.”

“A clinical pastoral chaplain must be someone who is committed to continuing personal transformation.”

“Our continuing vitality will be determined by our ability to nurture a receptiveness to criticism”
